About the Session:

This session is for teachers that have started on the journey of implementing Guided Math (or a form of Math Workshop) in their classroom. If you attended Dr. Nikki Newton's Guided Math: Going to the Next Level, or even if you didn't, this session is a chance to continue the learning on effectively working with small groups in your math classroom. Come prepared to talk about what is working in your classroom relating to Guided Math. As well, bring questions that you are asking in order to dig deeper into this topic.
